Dublin-based software business OSSM Cloud Solutions has secured a €200,000 deal to provide a NetSuite ERM solution to eyecare business Scope Ophthalmics. The implementation is part of Scope's plans to expand into the US.

"Before Scope Ophthalmics could look to expand into new markets, it was essential that we put in place a single platform capable of pulling together information from all operations to give us a clear picture of where the business was at. OSSM Cloud quickly identified our needs and seamlessly implemented a solution that is enabling us to grow outside Ireland and Britain while scaling with ease," said Larry Dunne, group finance director at Scope Ophthalmics.

"The NetSuite ERP solution has completely revolutionised our business, streamlining processes for our staff into one slick, easy-to-use platform and removing the need for laborious data duplication. It has also given us a previously unimaginable insight into every aspect of the business, with daily detailed reports allowing us to optimise our business for continued business growth and success."

Ray Ryan, chief executive of OSSM said the partnership was an interesting one to work on. "Scope Ophthalmics is at a hugely exciting point in its business journey. It is now equipped with a world-class cloud-based ERP solution which provides it with all the capabilities needed to expand into the US," said Ryan.

"The company is now more connected and automated in all departments, from accounts to supply chain to business intelligence. Scope Ophthalmics is now not only equipped to run faster and better, but is future-proofed to achieve its growth ambitions with confidence."
